How does the 'Protected' indicator work?

The green Protected indicator shows that surge protection is active. If the PA-D01 is on but the Protected indicator is off, surge protection may not be functioning. The Surge Protector may have been sacrificed (as designed) during a power surge to save your connected equipment, but will not protect against future surges and spikes. If disconnection and reconnection does not reset it, replace the Surge Protector.

Model: PA-D01

Product Care & Use

- Designed for indoor use in homes and offices only
- Do not use for industrial and other very high-demand applications
- Only use with properly grounded outlets
- Do not plug into another power strip or extension cable
- Disconnect it during thunder storms
- Keep it away from liquids and extreme heat
- Replacement recommended after a serious power surge or several years of use
- Protected indicator stays on briefly after switch-off due to normal capacitor discharge
